

Transfer in of Grades below “C”

Spring 2018

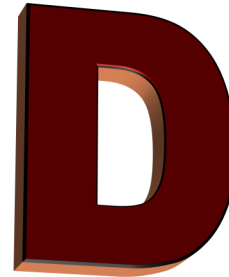

Students who take courses at other institutions to transfer them to Appalachian must earn a grade of “C” (2.0) or better in those courses. No transfer course with a grade of C-, D+, D, D-, or F will be loaded onto the ASU transcript. This will include courses students took at community colleges as a part of their AA or AS degrees. Students who earn an AA or AS degree with a course that has a grade below C may be required to retake the course at Appstate to earn credit.

This may cause some transfer students with associate degrees to have transcripts with fewer than the normal 62-64 hours of work from community colleges that you would see with the AA or AS degree. This also means courses taken for prerequisites or other credit may have to be retaken at ASU if the student did not earn at least a “C” at the other institution.

This policy also applies to courses taken through study abroad. Grades with equivalents of at least “C” (2.0) must be earned to transfer to ASU.

This policy is in compliance with the Comprehensive Articulation Agreement and aligns ASU with the other 16 institutions in the UNC system.

Remember, credit is earned at ASU with grades lower than a C; this policy applies to transfer work only.
